Editor's Window

The Mayor and some councilmen are enchanted with a novel idea. They are considering appointing on an interim basis a person not now in city government to succeed me upon my retirement as City Clerk on 1 April. Presumably, such a person would serve until 1 October, when Mr. Hugh Bayless, present administrative assistant, would have qualified by reason of a year's residency for appointment as City Clerk, the purpose for which he was employed.

The idea is not only novel, it is downright audacious. And absurd.

To begin with, they would pass over the ordained succession in such instances as this — to the Assistant City Clerk, Mr. Arthur Plaxton, who is qualified by reason of experience and knowledge— for some one utterly without experience in the office, who would have neither the time nor the reason during the ensuing five months to learn the skills or administration of the position.

Some people were restive because the city paid Mr. Bayless as well as myself during these past few months. They considered it an extravagance, even though it was giving the apparent successor valuable training against the time he would have to assume responsibility for the office.

If that was an extravagance, this is a travesty, particularly considering the arrangements proposed to make it palatable. (These arrangements, incidentally, seem tacitly to suggest an embarassment about the whole idea.)

Mr. Robert Spencer, a retired businessman of undoubted sincerity, who enjoys great respect — including mine — has offered to serve without pay. In the present circumstances, it is not a matter of his choosing to do so. The Municipal Code says that the salary of the Clerk SHALL be $600. Period. The Council could, through emergency legislation, amend the Code to provide that the salary of the Clerk shall be NOTHING. Any Clerk is worth more than that.

To legalize such a convenience, no matter how practical it might seem, is to play crudely with the ethics and the stature of this public office. This office belongs to the people, and let not the City Council forget it. They are not to tamper with it. And when it becomes their duty, through a resignation, death or other removal of the Clerk, to care for it, they must care for it as trustees, not proprietors privileged to manipulate it as if it were their constitutional property.

Nor is it an office to be bargained for or auctioned off. The salary of the Clerk has been, and should be, adequate to secure efficient and devoted service. Service for nothing is an affront to the dignity of the office, a scoff at the weight of its burdens and a chagrined admission that the service given by such a person wouldn't be worth any money to the people.

Now, what kind of a proposition is that? If Mr. Spencer is good enough to serve — and I should judge him a most desirable candi-

The Planning Commission Goes Shopping

A MAJOR CORNER of a principal intersection of downtown Carmel, the southeast corner of Ocean Avenue and Junipero Avenue, illustrates how far into the business and cultural core of the village the greenbelt of the urban forest extends. Securing the abundant and incalculably invaluable advantages against future loss is one of the problems involved in the current Planning Commission capital outlay study discussed in this week's feature story, "Planning Commission Goes Shopping."

The Planning Commission last night grabbed its market basket and went shopping, given a blank —but unsigned—check by the City Council, which had earlier asked that the Commission evolve a capital outlay plan for the city based upon the General Plan.

The Council's interest is not mere academic inquisitiveness. The 3% hostelry tax has commenced to pour money into the city's coffers, money which can be spent only on the accomplishment of elements of the General Plan, and by the budget sessions in August the Council is going to have to own a program providing for the allocation of perhaps $75,000 in the first year, and increments of about $50,000 for every year thereafter.

INTRIGUING POSSIBILITIES

The General Plan, it proved upon examination, provided an intriguing number of possibilities; the discussion provided others which did not even appear on the plan. Obviously, the Commission was on a shopping spree, with the world—or 560 acres of it— as its oyster. But they approached the problem as if they had never heard of a discount house, their eyes utterly devoid of the bargain hunter's gleam.

They turned to the Plan, a dream in many respects, and asked themselves repeatedly not, "What does the dream cost?" but, "Do we want it?"

They found, almost without exception, that the statement of Carmel's goals, in terms which could be physically expressed, hadn't changed much after six years, the goals seemed still worth pursuing, with money as well as dreams.

They turned, therefore, to their night's work with a vigor—it was a word used by Chairman Fred Keeble in more than one instance —that only an assurance of purpose could provide.

All Alone By The Telephone With 50,000,000 Others

Dave Muir, Pacific Telephone manager, has advised us that, commencing Sunday, 31 March, we can all start dialing our own long distance calls to more than 50 million telephones throughout the continental United States and Canada.

If you have the time, the money, and that many friends, you will commence by dialing "1", which connects you to the Direct Distance Dialing equipment, then phone the area code, then the number itself, which will require another 10 numbers.

For instance, to call San Francisco, dial "1", then the area code, "415" then the number itself, which might be "457-5364". Without a pause, that goes 14154575364.

And the same to you, fella.

Because any orchestration is better followed with a score, the telephone folks are mailing special instruction booklets to all customers, soothingly murmurs Mr. Muir.

And, if you haven't noticed, Information is now giving out local phone numbers in all-number prefixes. Nothing sonorous, majestic or evocative remains. "The number is 6243881."

What a crashing blow to that shadow aristocracy which sought and prized its PIckwicks, CRestviews, MUrray Hills. And MAyfairs.

The tyranny of numbers closes its aseptic grasp, and between its clutching fingers may one day squirt our names. Chauncy, for instance, may not appeal to some. But it seems infinitely desirable to 228629, whether the prefix is Mr. or 67.

EVENTS

AFA Notes

At the American Federation of Arts Gallery is a group show of six new figurative painters from the San Francisco Bay area: Richard Diebenkorn, Elmer Bischoff, David Park, Walter Snelgrove, Fred Martin, and Joseph Brooks. The exhibit, on loan from the Oakland Museum of Art, will continue until 10 April.

Tonight at 8 p.m. in the Gallery, C. Edward Graves, well known conservationist, lecturer, and Audubon Society member, will speak on "Springtime in the Desert," with color slides.

Lecture

The Catholic Chapel Guild of the United States Naval Postgraduate School and the Naval Air Facility will present Rear Admiral George A. Rosso in a lecture Sunday evening entitled "The Ethical Aspects of Thermonuclear Warfare." Admiral Rosso is Chief of Chaplains for the United States Navy in Washington D.C.

The lecture will be at 8 p.m. in King Hall and the public is invited.

Business Association

The general meeting of the Carmel Business Association next Wednesday night will be known as Past Presidents' Night, a "lively reminiscent evening of old Carmel." To be held at the La Playa Hotel, the evening will commence with cocktails at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m.

In urging attendance, the notice of the meeting also pled for payment of dues, remarking that the executive secretary had answered 691 pieces of correspondence in the first two months of the year, mostly inquiries from "tourists and future residents."

Reservations for the dinner may be made by telephoning Irene Crank, secretary, at MA 4-2552. New business people are particularly urged to attend.

Show At Studios

Carmel Craft Studios has announced that its monthly show will take place tomorrow. All artists are invited to compete, in any medium. Paintings must be brought to the studios by 3 p.m. and the artists must be present at 4 p.m. The show will be judged and prizes awarded.

Plaque Dedication

On Monday evening Carmel American Legion Post 512 will dedicate a memorial plaque upon which will eventually be inscribed the names of all deceased members of the post since 1936 (those who were members at the time of their deaths).

The 10-foot long plaque, made in three sections, with the Legion emblem on the center section, is the gift of Julien Caheen, in honor of his wife. The names will be lettered in gold on individual plaques of black plastic onyx.

Local dignitaries have been invited to the dedication at Legion Hall, which will take place at 8 p.m. and is open to the public.

Highlands Meeting

The Carmel Highlands Association will meet on Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Highlands firehouse. Ed De Mars, director of the Monterey County Planning Commission staff, will lead an informal discussion of planning in the Highlands area.

All residents, property owners, and their friends, are welcome to attend.

SCHOOLS

Parents' Club

The Carmel Junior High School Parents' Club will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria. Subject of the program will be "Tour de Course." Dr. Walter Klas, principal, will introduce teachers who will explain to parents the set-up of the courses and curriculum at the new Junior High School, their relationship to the High School curriculum and their coordination in the over-all program which takes a student at seventh grade level and leads him to graduation from high school, with preparation for college.

ORGANIZATIONS

Catholic Daughters

Court Carmel Mission, Catholic Daughters of America, will hold an open house on Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Crespi Hall.

All interested women of the parish are invited to attend.

Democratic Club

Acting on the premise that one's decisions are frequently only as good as one's information, the Carmel Women's Democratic Club is joining with other Democratic clubs in Monterey County for a Democratic Issues Conference to be held in the Fiesta Room of the Casa Munras, Monterey, on Saturday, 16 March, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Keynote speaker at luncheon will be Elton Andrews, State Planning Officer in the Department of Finance at Sacramento.

Delegates from various Monterey County Clubs who have been appointed to attend the California Democratic Council (CDC) Convention in Bakersfield later in the month have been examining, in small study groups, the issues to be discussed at the Saturday conference. Among these subjects will be the vital one of foreign policy as well as the state issues of labor dislocation, election reform, education natural resources, planning, problems of the elderly, and agriculture.

A small registration fee will be payable at the door. Luncheon reservations may be made by telephoning Mrs. Alden at MA 4-4941.

Happy Birthday, Dear Eben

Mayor Eben Whittlesey was not necessarily striving for anything unusual in the way of an observance of his fiftieth birthday yesterday. For some of us, it is enough just to reach the date symbolic of a still-youthful majority, great dignity of judgement and a ruggedness of constitution that is enviable.

But His Honor, one suspects, could not possibly be unhappy about a conspiracy of happenings that made the day—birthday or not—the sort of occasion that sends people scrambling for old, unused diaries with renewed determination to keep them up.

His day was filled with music, a chorus of "Happy Birthday" sung to him by the a capella choir at Jim Kelsey's Rinky Dink and a recording of the Bach B Minor Mass, both equally cherished gifts.

And then Fred Womble called him to say, "good morning." Fred has never done this before, with Eben or anyone else. But it is also the date of Fred's birthday, and nobody was singing to him, he hadn't heard a word from Bach, and, well. . . . . .

(Happy Birthday, Dear Fred.)

And then, there's the matter of money. Now, you're paying attention, huh?

Well, Eben got a letter from Connecticut, where things move with greater deliberation and less anxiety than they do here, that a bank in Norwalk was holding a savings account for him containing some $800, and did he want to do anything about it? They weren't excited; it was just that the account was fifty years old.

The best that the Mayor can determine at the moment is that his parents set up the account when he was an infant, and what with one thing and another—WW I and WW II; Prohibition, female suffrage; that rascal in the White House (Wilson) and What They've Done to New Haven—it was sort of forgotten by everyone. Eben was the one exception. He didn't forget about it. He never knew about it.

So, with music, money, and the dawn of the prime of life all occuring on the same day, the Mayor is, for the moment, happily undismayed by anything else.

CARPENTER STREET VACATION ORDERED

The City Trustees on Monday evening last, acceded to Paul Flanders' request that a portion of Carpenter Street, in the southeastern part of the city, be abolished. City Attorney Argyll Campbell was instructed to prepare papers in condemnation proceedings to acquire rights of way for new road connections.

At this meeting also a resolution was unanimously adopted which has for its object the grading of an 18-foot roadway on Eleventh Avenue, between Junipero and Viscaino. The expense will be borne by the Carnegie Institute, Frederick R. Bechdolt, Calvin C. Hogle and Paul Flanders.

The chicken ordinance passage went over to the next meeting.

FOOTPATH DISAPPEARS

The march of civic progress, the rapid growth of trees and shrubbery and the building of homes have resulted in the disappearance of the picturesque little path that used to lead down to Scenic Drive and the bath house. A committee consisting of City Engineer H. D. Severance, Dr. A. E. Burton and C. Sumner Greene was appointed to make a survey for a new roadway.

The Trustees have decided to move the fire house from its present location in the business district to North Carmel, a location having been tendered on the property of the Forest Hill School. The small chemical engine will be housed there.

Pine Needles

Mr. and Mrs. C. Halstead Yates will be away for some time in Santa Barbara and Pasadena. . . Mrs. G. H. Hart and her mother-in-law, Mrs. J. Hart, spent several days in Carmel recently. Mrs. G. Hart is the cousin of Hobart Glassell. The Harts are from Philadelphia. . . probably as a result of his long and active eastern trip, Thomas S. Parkhurst is very ill at his new home here. . . Mrs. Crawford, formerly of Portland, Ore., is the new owner of the Blue Bird Tearoom on Ocean Avenue.

AN ARISTOCRACY OF BRAINS

That the American system has avoided the establishment and domination of class has a singular proof in the present administration in Washington. Of the twelve men comprising the President, Vice-President and cabinet, nine have earned their way in life without economic inheritance, and eight of them started with manual labor.

Herbert Hoover, in a recently published book declares: "The pioneers of our American individualism had the good sense not to reward Washington, Jefferson and Hamilton with hereditary dukedoms and fixtures in landed estates, as Great Britain rewarded Marlborough and Nelson. Otherwise our American field of opportunity would have been clogged with long generations inheriting their fathers' privileges without their fathers' capacity for service."

Woman's Club

Marcia Hovick will present a program of dramatic readings before the book section meeting of the Carmel Woman's Club on Monday at 2 p.m. Presented by Mrs. Myrtle Stoddard, she will portray queens from different periods of history.

Pouring at the general meeting of 4 March were Mrs. Walter L. Stevens, Mrs. J. J. Downey, Mrs. T. Floyd Bell, and Mrs. Carrol Schweninger. Hostesses were Miss Elizabeth Reid, Miss Ethel O'Conner, Mrs. George Carlson, and Mrs. Henry Brown.

Gonzales Show

Works of Alex Gonzales, art instructor (who will conduct Saturday morning classes for children in April, sponsored by the American Federation of Arts), are on exhibit at the Barrios Gallery, Sacramento, through 4 April. Mr. Gonzales was recently designated by Mark Tobey as one of the most creative modern artists of the Monterey Peninsula.

The gallery, located at 1122 Two Street, is open from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. daily; 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. Sunday; and is closed Monday.

"Torchbearers"

"The Torchbearers," a satirical play about the little theater movement, will open Friday, 22 March, in the Monterey Peninsula College Little Theater-on-Campus.

Directed by drama department chairman Morgan Stock, the student production will run through Saturday, 30 March, omitting Sunday, 24 March.

The play, a farce of the 20's by George Kelly, shows a group of citizens trying to stage a production for charity. A pedantic director, several bumbling actors, and a frustrated husband are caught at a point in which everything possible goes wrong.

The cast includes students Mary Gannon and Gabrielle Goffinet, both of Carmel.

Tickets for "The Torchbearers" may be purchased at the Little Theater door. Curtain time each evening is 8:30.

Symphony

One of the outstanding musical events of the season will take place in Sunset Auditorium on Tuesday at 8:30 p.m., when the Monterey County Symphony presents the internationally celebrated pianist, Jean Casadesus, in a performance of the Tschaikowsky concerto for piano and orchestra. Mr. Casadesus, member of a notable musical family, has won world wide acclaim for his virtuosity.

In addition to this performance, the program will also include Ravel's "Le Tombeau de Couperin" and a first playing of Morris Haigh's "Music for Orchestra" Mr. Haigh, one of the co-winners of the symphony's 1962 Composers Award Competition, has studied composition with Carl Parrish and Halsey Stevens at Pomona College. Recipient of a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, he chose to do graduate work at the Eastman School of Music, where he studied composition under Bernard Rogers and received his M.A. in 1954. He is married to the former Elizabeth Brucholz, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry V. Brucholz of Carmel.

An unusually heavy demand for seats has been reported by symphony officials, who urge those interested in attending to order their tickets early. Season ticket holders who will be unable to attend are asked to turn in their tickets to the symphony box office at the Browse Around for resale.

USC Concert Choir

Sponsored by the Carmel Kiwanis Club and the Carmel High School Music Department, the University of Southern California Concert Choir will sing at Sunset School Auditorium on 22 March at 8:15 p.m.

The group of 62 voices is under the leadership of Dr. James Vail, assistant professor of church music, a graduate of the Curtis Institute of music in Philadelphia and holder of master of music and doctor of musical arts degrees from U. S. C., also organist and choirmaster at St. John's Episcopal Church, Los Angeles.

Tickets for the concert, which will include works from the 16th century to the present day, are on sale at Browse Around Record Shop, Carmel.

Planning Commission

Beaches and forests; tennis and shuffleboard courts; roadside glens and formal fragments of open lands surrounding public buildings came under their scrutiny. Theaters and corporations yards; civic centers and cultural centers evolving out of school sites attracted their attention. In detail and in panorama, the Plan was swept with their appraising gaze. When they were finished, some expected and some unexpected thoughts had emerged.

One of the most adventurous concerned lands not presently on the Plan but which have evolved during the passing years into matters of growing importance to a Plan which expresses itself in the beginning thusly: "The Plan..... is comprehensive in that it embraces all phases of the physical development of the planning area, public and private lands alike, regardless of whether they are proposed to be urbanized or to remain undeveloped. . . ."

Such a project, the far-roaming introduction by Commission advisor Floyd Adams suggested, could very well take the shape of acquiring private land which, by reason of situation, rather than scope or present use, had the potential for profound effect on the city's environment. As his most intriguing example demonstrated, it did not have to be very large to be effective and important. He was alluding to the block opposite the Carmel Plaza, bounded by Ocean Avenue, Torres Street and Mountain View, which is owned by Willard Newman.

Like the tip of a spear, it carries the urban forest right into the heart of the sophisticated business district: it is bounded on three sides by shops, a church and a motel. Yet, as a valuable forest intrusion its continuance is problematical. The Commission heard the proposal at one point that this, and other previously unconsidered sites, might be acquired and leased back for use at once profitable and enjoyable. The proposal of the Commission might be, it seemed possible, hard-monied as well as inspirational.

GREENBELTS, TOO

While greenbelts, as visual assets, defined the texture of the night's discussion, practical and cultural advantages were also explored. In the latter case, Sunset School as a cultural center received fond attention, giving further substance to a recent rumor that some informal talks have been going on, respecting this two-block property, between city and school district officials. The Commission could not have turned so certainly to a discussion of this possibility if some circumstance had not guided their attention.

Seeing the possibilities of using as well as preserving valuable land—as Monterey has found it could successfully support its historic adobes—the Commission also scanned such locations as the northwest corners of Dolores and 8th and San Carlos and 8th; the northwest corner of Monte Verde and Ocean Avenue and the west side of Carpenter, between 6th and Ocean.

TOWARD THE CORE

With the discovery that the City has for some time owned a sixty-foot wide swath more than nineteen hundred feet long down Flanders Canyon, interest in further acquisition in this area seemed to wane. Apparently attention was turning inward to the vital core, to the place where the most people could gain the most advantage the most often, whether culturally, socially or aesthetically.

On the 26th of this month, armed with a detailed shopping list of all the sites considered, the Commission will return to market for a further study of what Carmel should have, with an approach which used to be typical in Carmel; not "How much?" but "What is it worth to us?"

As Carmel used to measure bargains, they may return to the City Council a shopping list worth signing the blank check for.

Members Only

The members-only country club, a popular development in resort-and-relaxation-conscious Carmel Valley, will be a new arrangement for an old and popular recreation park, Saddle Mountain Ranch, a sunny mountain-side resort long favored by Carmelites seeking relief from summer fogs.

Owned and operated by a congenial couple, Milton and Marie Frumkin, Ranch memberships will be available for families for the season commencing 1 April and ending 30 September. Some non-member private groups may be accepted during the weekends.

Offering a diversity of features, Saddle Mountain has a swimming pool, barbecue pits and picnic tables, horseshoe pits, volleyball and badminton courts, ping-pong tables, hiking trails, dart boards, childrens' play areas, a snack bar and dance pavilion. A number of supervised and organized activities are also proposed.

In contrast to the typical country club which tends to cater to adult tastes, the Frumkins' plans of operation will offer an informal bring-the-whole-family atmosphere.

WHERE THERE'S LIFE

By Andre Hope

From the San Francisco Chronicle, Lost and Found: "CAT, lost, Green, Hyde, Gray, Orange mottled". So, should you see a green cat with a gray hide, orange mottled, do not start visiting your friendly neighborhood head hunter nor dispense with visits to your equally F. N. dandelion wine purveyor — just return the cat. . .

While in a colorful mood, I never can understand how you and I can be so smart so young (well, you're young, and am I not?). After writing of the predominant colors of spring and summer last week, I visited Jackson Square in the City. This is the area where many of the decorators assemble to buy all their goodies. What do you know? The shades of green, accompanied by soft browns, smoky oranges and yellows are IT (whatever "it" is)! In line with giving your home a summer-spring, fall-winter look, Japanese housekeeping is much to be admired. Instead of displaying everything you have on hand, store it all away, packaged and labeled. This way you can bring out only the things you want as the occasion demands. A very wise person in the ways of beauty told me to dress my home as I would myself; start with something basic, add the accessories you think absolutely necessary and then — start subtracting. This applies to floral arrangements as well. An excellent primer on the latter, I find, is "Japanese Flower Arrangement" classical and modern, by Norman J. Sparnon. A few of the "modern" I found a little "too", but then, we all have kookie moods. The book I found at The Wells book shop in Carmel. Still in a colorful mood, a combination I have always admired are the soft shades of violet, lilac and orchid combined with dull silvers. Little did I know the meaning of the word "orchid" until I saw the show this weekend of the Carmel and Monterey Bay Orchid Societies at the fairgrounds.

It was, I understand, the first of its kind on the Peninsula and so beautifully mounted and presented. Sorry if you missed it and hope it will be a regular event. Oh, those green orchids! Bring out the Dragon Lady in me! . . . Now, as for dragons. Remember our new contest? If you have a monstrosity in your home — inanimate; children, spouses, relatives and pets not acceptable — write us a description of it. A gaggle of ghouls will judge and the worst example will be replaced with something of worth. . .

A Lenten dish from a dedicated gourmet: Kookie Klams. Have enough live clams on hand to provide ½ lb. meat for each person (ask Marty at Liberty Fish on the wharf). Drop in boiling water (no salt) until shells open. Drain thoroughly. Add to clams 1/8 lb. melted butter per two people, chopped parsley and coarse ground pepper. Cover with milk to the ¾ mark and bring just to boil. Serve in large soup bowls garnished with more parsely and paprika. Accompany with lots of crusty sour dough bread, sweet butter and grey reisling or dry sauterne.

Today I think we've covered all of the senses (where there's life) except those of sound and thought: the seventh. So, listen to the beat of your heart and think how lovely it is to be alive.

CARMELO 4-H CLUB NEWS

By JOHN JACOBY

This is National 4-H Week — a week in which we hope you will take time to think about the ideals and hopes and accomplishments of our members.

4-H, started in 1919 as an extension service of the United States Department of Agriculture, was primarily for farm youth. Now over half of the members in this country are from non-rural homes. Under various names, 4-H is found in some 70 countries of the world. All of these clubs are helping to develop better citizens of the future. 4-H activities are planned and carried out by the members without outside financial help. The members learn to accept the responsibility for the success or failure of their undertakings.

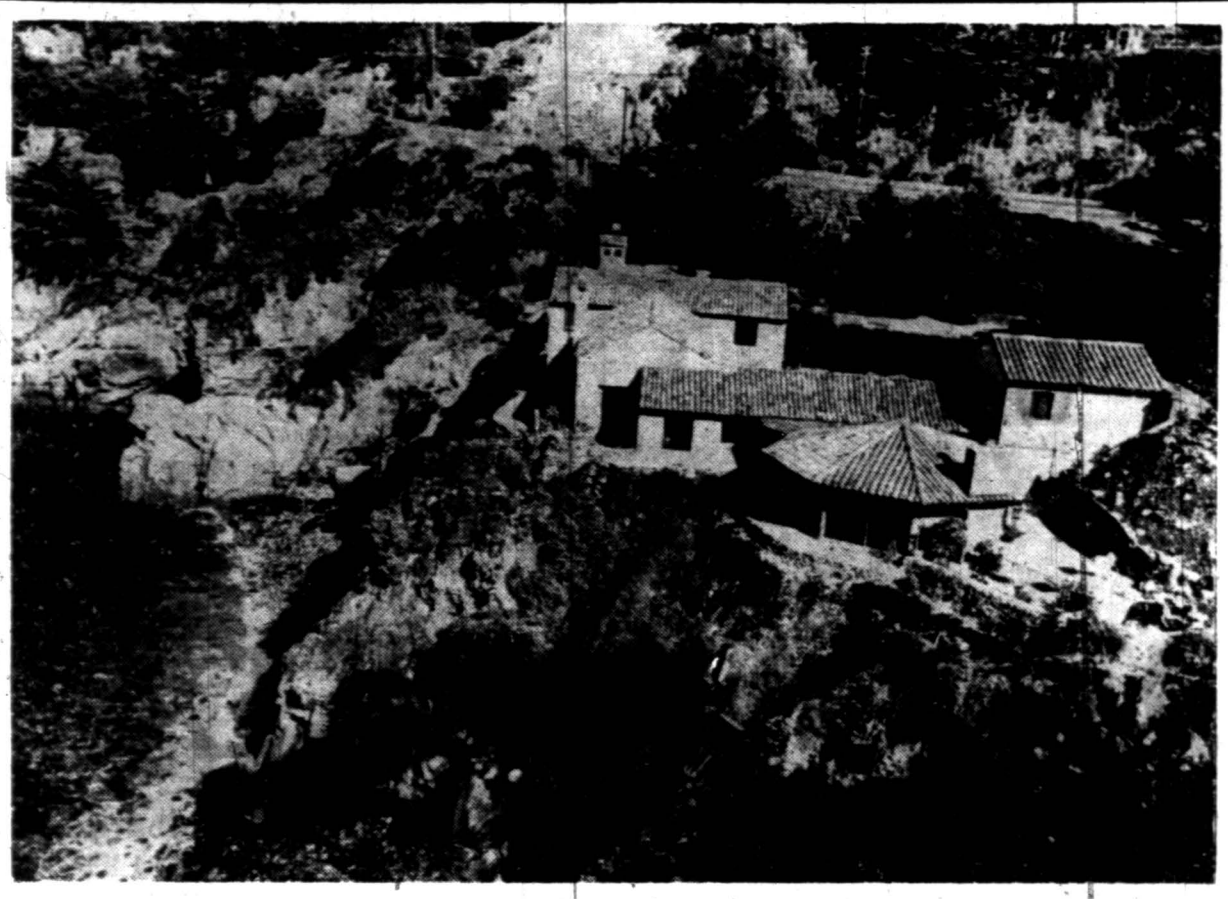

Among the many projects undertaken by Carmelo 4-H members this year are forestry, guide dog, home beautification (landscaping), home furnishings (interior decoration), and woodworking, as well as the better known projects in agriculture, home economics, and electricity. We keep records of our work done, knowledge gained, expenses, profits and losses, etc. Emphasis is placed on activities in citizenship and community service.

As a true 4-H member,

"I pledge
My HEAD to clearer thinking, My HEART to greater loyalty, My HANDS to larger service, My HEALTH to better living for my club, my community, and my country."

ERIN GO BRAGH

A fugitive from the old sod was heard to mutter as he struggled with the cork in a bottle of Irish, "Begorra, I'll get the dammed thing out if I have to push it in."

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Nedelcove, new owners of the Redwood Lodge and Camp, Big Sur, have come to Big Sur and their new business with much enthusiasm and many plans for the future. Mr. Nedelcove, who was for years a security officer with Aerospace Corporation in Los Angeles, his wife, Audrey, and daughter, Vicky, moved the first of this month from their home in Pacific Palisades to Redwood Lodge.

The Nedelcoves' new business and property was purchased from longtime residents of Big Sur, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wax. The lodge and camp, situated on about 20 acres on Highway One, adjoining Pfeiffer State Park, and with the Big Sur River bisecting the property, consists of 100 camp and trailer sites, 36 cabins, 12 motel units on the highway, a grocery store and restaurant. Immediate plans for the future are the refurbishing of a number of the motel units, installation of a gasoline service by Union Oil Company, and the establishment of a bakery. The bakery will open after the first of April and will be operated by Max Pierpoint. Mr. Pierpoint, retiring after 30 years as chief pastry cook with a United States Government Agency in Los Angeles, will within the next few weeks move to Big Sur with his wife, June, and daughter, Ann

In charge of maintenance will be Tom Pink of London, England. Mr. Pink will retire soon as engineer with the Fulham Power Company, a division of the London County Council, in Fulham, England. Mr. and Mrs. Pink, parents of Mrs. Nedelcove, were in Big Sur eight months ago, visiting Redwood Lodge, and will move to the Sur within the next few months.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Iver Ewoldof Big Sur left this month for a five-months trip to Europe, which will take them through Portugal, Spain, France, Norway and Denmark. Much of the time will be spent at Mr. Ewoldsen's boyhood home in Northern Germany, in the province of Schleswig - Holstein. During the senior Ewoldens' absence, their son, Hans Martin Ewoldsen, with Mrs. Ewoldsen and their daughters, Laura and Brook Ann, of Berkeley, will care for the home and property. Mr. Ewoldsen, a student at the University of California, will use this opportunity to prepare his thesis in geological engineering.

A new member of the staff at the Pfeiffer State Park, Big Sur, is Harry Morlan of Fresno, recently retired from the United States Air Force. Ranger Morlan's family will move to Big Sur at the close of the school year, and daughter Jeannine will enroll in the Captain Cooper Elementary School at the fall term. The Morlans' son, an engineering major at Harvey Mudd College in Claremont, will be with his parents during vacations.

"The Expansion of Consciousness Through Art" is the subject of the fifth seminar in a series, taking place this week end at the Big Sur Hot Springs Lodge. Sessions will begin at 9:00 a.m. on Saturday, will end at noon on Sunday, and will be lead by Pierre Delattre, playwright and director of the Actor's Repertory Theater; George Elliott, author; Herbert Gold, novelist and essayist; Leo Litvak, author and assistant professor of English at San Francisco State College; and Neill Smith, architect, of San Francisco.

Leading the discussion for seminar number six, the week end of 23-24 March, will be Willis W. Harman, professor in the School of Engineering, Stanford University; and Wilson Van Dusen, cheif clinical psychologist at Mendocino State Hospital.

The Big Sur Potluck Revue, the unique annual variety show presented with a cast of exclusively Big Sur talent, will hold its first performance Friday, 22 March, at 8:00 p.m. in the Big Sur Grange Hall. Additional performances will be Saturday and Sunday, 23 and 24 March, at 8:00; and Saturday and Sunday, 30 and 31 March. Tickets are still available for some performances, and may be obtained from Mrs. Marty Hartman, Ripplewood Lodge, Big Sur, or by telephoning Mrs. Hartman at Big Sur 2521.

Currently on exhibition at the Grand Central Art Galleries in New York City are works of Big Sur artist Bennett Bradbury. Ten years ago Mr. Bradbury held his first one-man show at Grand Central, and since that time he has enjoyed great popularity at the Galleries with those who appreciate his exciting presentation on canvas of the moods of the sea. The Galleries, in describing the exhibition which will close on 16 March, state, "We are happy to say that, as we predicted a decade ago, Bradbury has firmly established his position as a leading member of that tradition of American excellence in the painting of vigorous studies of the sea and shore. Quietly, yet unerringly, over the years he has captured for us with brush and palette knife the fury of the surf, the tang of salt air and the subtle, everchanging moods of the sea."

A dozen or more miles south of Big Sur on Highway One is a bronze plaque marker with the inscription, "This Park Dedicated to the Public Use by Lathrop Brown and Helen Hooper in Memory of Julia Pfeiffer Burns." The Julia Pfeiffer Burns State Park, comprising 1,750 acres of outstanding coastline, mountains and forests, was giftdeeded to the State in December, 1961, by Mrs. Lathrop Brown with the understanding that it would be used for State Park purposes. The Park, named in honor of Julia Pfeiffer Burns, a pioneer woman of the Big Sur area, and long-time friend of Mrs. Brown, is at present only staffed with a minimum of personnel, and will not be opened for general public use until funds become available.

VILLAGER'S RETURN

Thirty years ago the street looked almost the same:
square two-storied houses that seemed huge then,
brick library, primly colonial and the town's claim to culture...
Park Circle with bandstand and cannon... croquet
In the evening, and deep shade for young love?
Quaint churches grouped around the outer circle...
some abandoned ever then....
The old yellow schoolhouse sleeps, its windowshades rolled halfway just as they used to be at the end of day...
but inside... emptiness.

I feel like Rip Van Winkle... although my town looks the same...
WHERE IS EVERYBODY?

—THEDA LENORE POST

TO AN UNHAPPY POET

Consider tears as fragrant rain,
And tragedy a blessed thing;
Be grateful for whatever pain
Compels your listless lips to sing.

Most golden and mysterious,
The swan's death-notes within the dell;
The songs of searching Orpheus
Were sweetest in the depths of hell.

Better the sea whose billows quake
With grief eternal and profound,
Than some tree-shaded, jasper lake
Whose tranquil waters make no sound.

—WALDEN GARRATT

WHEN EARTH'S LONG STORY

When earth's long, complicated story
Is through, and man at last has gone,
Perhaps to defeat, perhaps to glory,
Into the night or another dawn,
There will be left, then, just these three,
The wind, the heavens and the sea,
Alone, victorious and free.

This triad shall possess the world,
The wind's unending, billowy motion,
The sweeping, turbulent tides of ocean,
And above, the roof of heaven unfurled.

Will these three Titans talk together
About some midgets that, for a while,
Disturbed their vast, eternal weather
Upon a tiny temporal mile?

—LOIS PETTI

Yachting

The Monterey Peninsula Yacht Club recently entertained some noted guests when they held their quarterly meeting after a dinner at the Mission Ranch. More than 100 members and their families listened to Al Coons, Monterey City Manager, and a team of Richard Garrod and Gordon Hall discussing in generalities the proposed Master Plan for Monterey's waterfront. They took in a broad sweep from Cannery Row to Fort Ord including possible changes in the present Monterey Marina. Both Mr. Coons and Mr. Hall impressed the gathering with the fact that the thinking must be very advanced in all considerations due to the tremendous interest in boating. There is more than five hundred million dollars of private hulls already afloat in Monterey Harbor and with the Santa Cruz Yacht Club numbering more than 100 members and just getting started on their club house, this amount should be more than doubled before this season is over.

The Stillwater Cove Yacht Club start their summer activities on Easter Sunday with an El Toro Race for Juniors and Seniors. They also plan this year to hold sailing instruction classes for the juniors, according to Commodore Harvey Rockwell who also announced that the Stuart Haldorn Mercury Regatta would inaugurate the sailing season for the Pebble Beach area.

Sunday, 17 March, at 12 p.m. 30 boats will take part in the monthly handicap race on Monterey Bay.

Rugby & Sky Diving

As an added attraction to the Fifth Annual Monterey Peninsula Rugby Tournament to be held 23 and 24 of March on the Carmel Junior High School field located in the entrance to Carmel Valley, several members of the Parachute Club of America will make jumps and free falls as part of the general athletic entertainment.

Dick Enarson, Rusty Gunby, Brien McNamara, and Steve Moore, all connected with the club, will make three jumps between 1:00 p.m. and 2:00 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday. Taking off from Monterey Airport, the parachutists will do a bit of controlled sky diving along with the regulation target and spot jumping.

The main effort of the PCA, with offices located at 900 Major Sherman Lane in Monterey, is toward making sport parachuting a safe recreational activity. Organized in 1957, the founders realized that if the sport was to grow, it first must be made safe. They then contacted the most experienced parachutists available and set up their Basic Safety Regulations.

It is a non-profit, incorporated organization supported only by membership dues and fees and has grown from a mere handful in 1957 to almost 200 active clubs with a membership of over 2000. Membership in the PCA is open to anyone interested, but one must be at least 16 years old in order to jump, and, strangely enough, it is not at all difficult to procure insurance. All dues and fees are directed toward the benefit and promotion of sport parachuting and support of the U.S. Parachuting Team.

Also on Sunday, 24 March, at 11:30 p.m., there will be a judo exhibition on the field. Tom Tanimoto, judo instructor from the Army Language School, and some of his pupils and associates, will perform.

Sixteen Rugby teams hailing from as far away as Vancouver, Canada, will compete in the tournament proper with two games taking place simultaneously on the huge Junior High field.

Originated by Paul Andrews of San Francisco's Olympic Club as a closed competition between Southern California and Northern California teams, the matches became so popular in five short years that upgrading of quality is now taking place and the larger field became a must.

Rugby football, a swift and fluid combination of American football, soccer, and basketball, antedates the American game by many years. Started by accident during a soccer game taking place at Rugby College, England, in 1823, when an impatient player picked up the soccer ball and ran with it, it soared in popularity; but the first organized leagues were not formed until the early 1870's when England, Scotland and Ireland agreed on playing rules.

The game is much more arduous than American football, for several reasons. Halves extend to 45 minutes each, with 15 men per side in almost constant motion and NO SUBSTITUTIONS. Although no interference or blocking is allowed to precede the runner, the teams are lightly clothed in shorts and jerseys, and as they wear football cleats, a kick in the slats is not only painful but sometimes crippling. Forward passing is against the rules but as the ball is fat and with blunt ends, the running dropkick is often seen and forms a spectacular part of the game for the spectators.

Our shovel passes and laterals originated in Rugby but the scoring is different. A "try," the same as our touchdown, rings up three points, a conversion, two; the free kick and penalty kick and dropkick all score three times.

This fine show, and an exciting one, with all amateurs taking part, including the parachute jumpers and judo experts, will be sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, all proceeds going to the upkeep of Dennis the Menace Playground.

Golf

Rotund George Gallios, defending champion in the Monterey Peninsula Open Tournament, rolled over Joe (Bright Eyes) Tomasello, several times titlist in the past Opens, in his first match at Del Monte Golf Course.

Most of the favorites came through and next Sunday's rounds will see the tension piling up and a more severe outlook on the part of the opponents.

Tough Bob Smith of Fort Ord took out Buck Henneken, a perennial contender, and Norman Dana, a three-time winner, invoked his deadly short game to defeat Left Davison. Wheeler Farish, Jr., of Pebble Beach, had a tight 33 for the front nine to turn three up over Ed Haber and then slid easily along to a 4-3 margin of victory.

Matches next Sunday should see all of the Harps win if there is any justice, but the Irish in this group are in short supply.

Following is the lineup although not necessarily in this order, as contestants arrange their matches on an amicable time basis.

Bob Smith vs. Ray Weatherford; Warner Keeley vs. Court Randolph; Mike Maiorana vs. Norman Dana; Adrian Monteil vs. Frank Cefalu; George Gallios vs Wheeler Farish; Hal Evans vs. Tony Trovato; Clem Trapkus vs. Martin Andrews; Richard Hill vs. Joe Tick or Skip Murry, whose match will be played during the week.

Gallios and Wheeler should provide hot competition for each other as they have played together so often they know each other's every shot, but those looking for excitment will do well to follow the Maiorana-Dana hassle. It should be a lulu.

BOX SCORE

BY DARYL HADLEY

It's not like watching the Baltimore Orioles or San Francisco Giants or even Snookum Lake's undefeated team, but there is just nothing in the world like watching your ol' hometown team, win, lose, or lose, lose, lose.

We lost last year. Twenty-two times in a row. But that's all in the past (and deeply buried, I hope!). And, anyway it is our ol' hometown team, etc., etc., etc.

Hadley Hicks, having practically the same team as last year, is optimistically looking over his young eager beaver Carmel High School Padres. "A few breaks and this team could go all the way." Maybe it's good to lose and to be so sorrowfully defeated as to have at least to place this year just to make living bearable. And what's that hope-inspiring line about—"learning from our mistakes?"

Anyway, it's spring and I'm resigned to bird-watching. I really "feel" for this team. You see I, too, had my wins, and losses, and mostly the latter as a rookie in the Giants and Braves organizations. Every time I stepped up to the plate, someone would yell, "Well, there's another out!" I would have liked to prove them all wrong with another year, but instead I got a pink slip which sent me home like a whipped pup.

Now the Padres have that extra year to prove us all wrong.

Although it's the same team as last year, they have now what they didn't then—experience. Now Hadley Hicks is not counting on any one man, as this is strictly a team effort. And they're good, very good, on defense. The stickler is, they need hitters and pitchers and a stronger bench. This seems like a whole lot, but talking to last year's losing team, it is amazing to see their spunk and will to win this year.

Tuesday's first practice game with the Monterey Toreadors proved to be a 4-4 tie called in the 6th because of darkness. Carmel Padres took a 4 to 0 lead until the fifth, on home runs by Ralph Juarez and Lydie Mahrt. Bob Holmes pitched 4 scoreless innings, and Chris Martin, who replaced him, ran into a snow storm and was replaced by Lydie Mahrt, who continued until the game was called. There were no outstanding plays in general, except for Carmel's double play in the first inning. The line up: Al Tegtmeier, 1B; Lydie Mahrt, 3B; Ralph Juarez, RF; Grant Pollack, C; Mike Oakie, LF; Howdy Kink, SS; Bob Larson, CF; Robin Smith, 2B; and Bob Holmes, P.

Sports Cars

BY ED LESLIE

Well, we had a ball with our new race car up at Cotati on Sunday. I'll tell it to you as a narrative so that you can enjoy it, as we all did. It certainly proved the necessity of trying out a car before racing, of having time to prepare a car and of expecting anything when you go racing. This day's racing was, in reality, a Racing Driver's School for the 3rd time students, where the Senior licensed SCCA drivers evaluated their students before allowing them licenses to race. First race of the season is at Stockton, April 6, 7. Naturally, all of us from here were anxious to try our own cars and see how they compared, get some valuable practice and exchange lies about our coming race possibilities.

I got there OK on Saturday night, waited until 8:00 o'clock for Fraser and Areta Sibbald and finally went to eat alone when the TV set blew up in the motel. Later the Sibbalds arrived; having decided that I wouldn't wait, they had eaten on the way. The men from Continental (they built our TR-4) arrived way late, having been enthralled with the full moon beauty of San Francisco on a clear night, missed the hiway turn and ended up lost in the North Beach area! Wellborn never arrived at all; neither Ray Ramsey, his wife, nor his mechanics arrived, and Red and Pixie Geesaman didn't make it either!

Next morning at the Cotati track the Geesamans arrived with our truck, their homebuilt Formula Jr. safely tied on back. We unlimbered our TR-4 with its big signs on the side and still carrying its luggage rack, spare wheel, upholstery, tools, heater, radio and all the garbage that you generally remove to go racing. But deep inside the car was ready to roll! It went like Jack-the-Bear, and amazed us and also some slower cars. Guess you aren't ready to have a full street trim car pass you on a race track, with license plates, bumpers and all. Anyhoo, we ran all day without a change in timing, carburetion or suspension.

It was well that we went to try it out, however, as the engine fell off a broken motor mount in mid-turn, while I was carrying a student, and it locked the steering rather suddenly! Also, my new big fuel pump blew off a fuel line right over the hot exhaust manifold and frightened me most to death.

Later on, I had a 10 lap dice with Don Wester in the new Porsche Super 90 that he will be driving in the same races that I'll have the TR. He and I enjoyed some fine, very close laps, until we both exhausted our brakes and actually began to slow down together. We laughed and promised we would each immediately find some method of getting one more mile per hour out of our cars. We both managed to pass most other cars that we'll run against, so it looks like we must both lose weight, go illegal, or get some extra sleep the night before Stockton. I have the edge, really, as Don has just announced his marriage date, just one week before Stockton!

Poor Ray and Judy Ramsey arrived a bit later, towing his newly prepared car. He had driven it up the coast in order to get some break in miles and was unlucky enough to have it break a valve just 3 miles from the track! You can imagine the mood he was in having wasted the week's work, wasted the trip up there, and then being forced to watch us all out on the track all day. After watching all day, like good sports, they started home towing the race car. All went well, until the water temperature gauge went out on the tow car, followed soon after by the head gasket releasing its seal twixt block and head, and there they sat, both car and driver steaming! Any joking at this point would have proven perilous, so Don Wester brought them on home. End of story.

Geesaman ran his Jr. for many laps, evaluated several Juniors, fixed some assorted leaks and did a bit of chassis tuning. He got progressively faster during the day. A comical sidelight was heard on the intercom system when an enterprising Driver Observer on turn one kept trying to turn in Evaluation Reports on a car No. 167 that he could not find listed on his sheet, and the phone girl, Areta Sibbald, kept trying to convince him that he couldn't "evaluate" that car as it was a Senior Driver by name of Red Geesaman! Wish they had turned in a report so that we could kid Red a bit!

The weekend ended with a beautiful night's trip back, light traffic on the freeway and all home safely. Don and I finished up elated, Red finished happy, but with the flu, Fraser excited about the chances his MG-A will have when he finished his engine work. Ray Ramsey finished for a week or so, and Bill Wellborn had never left home. So-o-o, Monday starts another week!

Scholarships Needed For Local Students

"Funds for scholarships to enable deserving local college students to attend the 3-5 May World Affairs Conference at Asilomar are being sought by the World Affairs Council of The Monterey Peninsular," the Council's president, Carl Hering, has stated.

Individuals or business firms can provide a student scholarship to this major international conference for only $15.00, which will cover registration fees and background study materials.

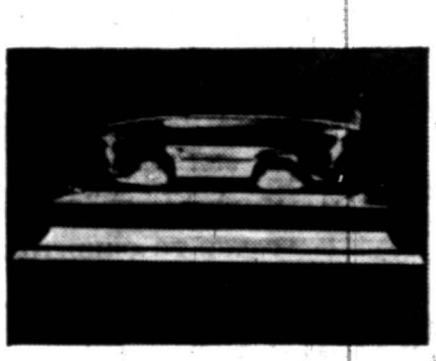

The subject of this year's conference is "Asia: Challenge to the United States." For American and foreign students, the conference is an unusual and valuable experience in the exchange of public opinion on matters of world importance. In addition, they will have the opportunity to hear national and international experts make key addresses on the issues under consideration. In the past, John F. Kennedy, Dean Rusk and others of such stature have been among the experts present at the conference.

Anyone interested in designating a scholarship in his or his firm's name should contact Carl Hering at FR 2-6644 or Reuben Johnson at FR 5-6492.

COLBURN MURAL

A mural by Sam Colburn, commissioned by August Nieto for his El Prado de Su Vecino, has been installed this week on the balcony of the well-known court on Dolores Street. Picturing a Mexican market scene, the work is done in Liquitex, an acrylic latex paint, on masonite. Carmel beach sand (like bringing River Jordan water to a ship launching,) is mixed in the medium.

Among The Pines

Church of the Wayfarer

Outward indications are that the personal popularity of Dr. K. Fillmore Gray will be strong enough to hold him in office as pastor. According to a spokesman, "a large number of the congregation are in favor of retaining him."

Dr. Gray, a Methodist, has been the target of a minority in the church group who have announced that they feel the church should be free of Methodist control.

An open election will be held in Fellowship Hall at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

. . . Churches . . .

None of us can ever forget the prayerful words: "Give us this day our daily bread." To millions around the world those immortal words are a reality—a painful need! There are other needs too . . . shelter . . . clothing . . . educational and technical facilities to assist those who want to be able to help themselves. The churches of America send aid to the needy overseas throughout the year. When your church appeals to you to help on Sunday, March 24, give generously. Make ONE GREAT HOUR OF SHARING your hour to offer a friendly hand to those overseas who desperately need your help!

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The deep, spiritual nature of real "Substance" will be the subject at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Bible readings will include these verses from I Corinthians (2:9, 10): "As it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God."

Other Scriptural selections will bring out what Christ Jesus taught about substance, and will be accompanied by this passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 313): "Jesus of Nazareth was the most scientific man that ever trod the globe. He plunged beneath the material surface of things, and found the spiritual cause."

The engagement of Barbara Jean Merrell and Dell Peter Redding has been announced by Barbara's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alwin W. Merrell of Lancaster. Dell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell C. Redding of Carmel.

The bride-to-be attended the University of California at Berkeley, and obtained her A.B. degree in social welfare at Fresno State College last June. She is now employed by the Fresno County Welfare Department.

Dell, a graduate of Carmel High School with the class of 1954, attended Stanford University for two years, completed his service commitment with the United States Navy, and later traveled extensively in Europe. He received his A. B. degree in biology at Fresno State College in June of 1961. At present he is working toward his M.A. degree at San Jose State, while employed at Allen Hall as head resident.

The young couple met while both were working as resident advisors on campus at Fresno State.

Barbara and Dell plan a 10 August wedding in Fresno, and will make their home in San Jose.

Remember The Free Lunch?

Three weeks ago, "Days Before Yesterday" column carried an advertisement of the Carmel Realty Company, offering a lot on Carmelo and 11th for $650. If you had read the ad on 24 February, 1923, you might have snorted, "That's ridiculous! Highway robbery! Clear out in the middle of nowhere. It isn't worth more than three hundred, and De Yoe knows it!"

If you read the ad on 28 February, 1963, you would shake your head, smile and murmur, "How naive, how innocent, how charming." Or you might, as at least three people did, rush down to the Carmel Realty and try to buy the property—particulary if you hadn't read the dateline.

Art Strassburger had three people not a little upset that he still didn't have the lot listed at $650. One person was willing to concede that a typo might have occurred, and that the price should have been $6,500. (Best guess, if the property were now on the market: $15,000.)

New Episcopal Priest

The Reverend Samuel Earl Smith, a former Carmel resident, was elevated to priesthood in the Episcopal Church on Saturday by the Right Reverend George Richard Millard, Suffragan Bishop of California. Ordination rites took place at Saint Paul's Episcopal Church in Walnut Creek with the Reverend Alfred B. Seccombe, also formerly of Carmel, officiating. Reverend Smith will serve as curate in St. Paul's parish.

The Reverend David Hill, rector of All Saints' Church in Carmel, preached the sermon. Another close friend and former Carmelite, Jon E. Menand, was Epistoler for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam S. Smith traveled from their Carmel home to attend their son's ordination service, as did other family members, Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Smith (the former Paulette Eby of Bellflower, California) and James Smith.

A gift of vestments for the honoree was presented by members of All Saints' Church, where he had served as an acolyte during his boyhood and later as a lay reader. Following the ordination ceremony, a reception was held in his honor in Saint Paul's parish hall.

date for regular and continued occupancy of the office — then he is worth the regular salary. I am also not forgetting that there might be others who could qualify for such an interim appointment, if such a thing were resonable and desirable (which definitely it is not), but who could not make an economic sacrifice. They would be shamed out of consideration by such a special exception.

Also, I am sure Mr. Spencer has no intention of going into the office and sitting on it. His ambition, as well as his conscience, is going to compel him to learn something. This is going to require the advice, counselling and energies of the present staff, distracting them from their own functions in the meanwhile. This is normal in any succession — it could happen after the next election; it could have happened to me — but there should be presumption that the successor is going to stay indefinitely, which gives a totally different inspiration to the learning and the teaching.

I would make one other comment. Bob Spencer is a man of extreme integrity, and I would be surprised if he could stand up and take a solemn oath to discharge the duties of a public office — an elective office — with an avowed intention not to serve out a term even to a regularly appointed election. Such a deceit would never honor his reputation, no matter how sincere and scrupulous his motives.

It seems to me that, if the Council wishes to secure Mr. Bayless's privilege to succeed me, they have a straightforward, simple and uncomplicated way of doing so: appoint Mr. Plaxton for a while. As a matter of fact, with Mr. Plaxton available, the appointment of Mr. Spencer just doesn't make sense. It sounds like too much hanky-panky.

Or, if the whole situation is too confused and distressing, the Council should simply call a special election. And, since Mr. Whitaker's resignation from the Council will be almost simultaneously effective, perhaps this is what should be done. Previous Councils have had some sticky experiences with multiple appointments to elective offices.

Until the day of my resignation, I am responsible for this office I have been privileged to hold; I am responsible to the people, and to no one else. I would never think of suggesting to the people such a contrived and purposeless arrangement. Why, then, do some of the councilmen assume they enjoy the privilege of seriously indulging in such folly with something which doesn't belong to them?

SUN AND VIEW AND SPINNING WHEEL CHARM
You get all these and much, much more in a 14 year old home near Carmel Point. Nearly 3000 square feet of the finest quality construction including plastered walls, heavy cedar shake roof, efficient central heating system, hardwood floors. And, as to the aesthetic attractions, we offer a peaceful living room with ocean and mountain views, interesting little "sun pockets" in both outside patios and inside sunrooms, an honest-to-goodness dining room 12 feet square, drapes, carpeting, kitchen appliances — and all of this for only $43,500 on a large, beautifully developed lot. You couldn't possibly reproduce the structure, let alone the charm for anything as low as this. Helen Ireland would love to show you this favorite of ours.
